

Exhibit 6-4: Perceived Strengths of the Guideline
(Percent of Respondents)<sup>1</sup>
(n = 616)

<sup>1</sup>Multiple Response question, thus proportions may exceed 100%. Only answers mentioned by at least 5% of all respondents are shown individually in the figure. To compute the number of respondents who mentioned each strength, multiply the percentage by 616. Thus,  $22\% \times 616 = 136$  respondents saw the consistency, uniformity, and objectivity of the guideline as a strength.

<sup>2</sup>Other: good settlement tool, adjusts for second families, reduces parental conflict, mandatory.
